1. Life in Berlin should remain wonderful

That is our aim

Everyone in Berlin should be able to live well in our city. Berlin should be clean.

And there should be plenty of nature for people to relax in.

Nature and animals should thrive. The climate must be protected.

Because it's getting warmer and warmer. Especially in the cities.

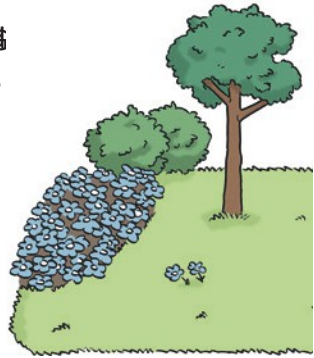

People are suffering from the heat.

And nature and animals don't have enough water.

This is what we want to do

- We'll install lots of solar panels on roofs. Solar panels generate electricity from solar energy. Solar energy is a renewable energy source. That means: This energy is constantly being renewed. That's good for the environment and for the climate. Another example of renewable energy is wind power.
- We protect urban nature.
Urban nature includes parks, meadows and other green spaces.
They are important for relaxation.
- We protect animals and the environment.
- We plant lots of trees.
- We tackle the rubbish problem.
- We promote a healthy diet.
We ensure that food remains affordable.
- We provide good sports facilities for everyone.

2. Berlin should be affordable and fair

That is our aim

Rents for flats in Berlin should be affordable. Everyone should be able to afford to live in Berlin.

People living in poverty and those without a home should receive support.

This is what we want to do

- We'll ensure there are more affordable flats.
  - We will introduce a law on rental flats. The law should state, for example:
Landlords with a large number of flats must let some of them at affordable rents.
  - We will encourage the conversion of offices into flats.
After all, there are many empty offices in Berlin.
And there are too few affordable homes.
- We'll help people who are homeless.
- We help people on low incomes.
For example, with the Klima-Ticket.
This is intended to make buses and trains affordable for all Berliners.

3. Berlin should be fit for the future

That is our goal

Berlin should have good transport links.

Everyone in Berlin should be able to get anywhere: by bus, train, car, bike or on foot.

We also want a transport revolution.

That means:

We want to make transport environmentally friendly.

Berlin should have a sustainable and strong economy.

Sustainability means:

We act in such a way that nature is not destroyed. We consume only as much that can be replenished.

Then people will be able to live well in the future too.

Berlin should also remain a city for research and new ideas.

And a city for people who set up new businesses.

This is what we want to do

- We're creating a transport policy for everyone:
  - We're making the journey to school safe for children.
  - We'll ensure we have modern buses and trains.
  - We'll make buses and trains affordable for everyone.
- We're strengthening the economy and science:
  - We promote research.
  - We support new ideas.
  - We promote new projects.
- We ensure jobs with fair pay.
- We ensure that public funds are managed properly and fairly.

4. Berlin should remain diverse

That is our aim

Many different people live in Berlin. For example:

- People from different countries.
- People with and without disabilities.
- People of different faiths.

We want it to stay that way.

Because diversity is important to us and to our city.

Everyone should be able to live well in Berlin.

Everyone should be able to make their own choices about their lives. And everyone should have the same rights.

Berlin also has a wealth of art and culture on offer. We want it to stay that way.

This is what we want to do

- We protect diversity.

And we fight against discrimination.

Discrimination means:

A person is treated badly.

For example, because she has a different skin colour.

- We break down barriers and ensure inclusion.

Because everyone should be able to get involved, wherever they are.

- We stand up for refugees. We want them to be able to settle in well in Berlin.

- We protect our democracy against right-wing extremism.

Democracy means:

Everyone has a say and is free to express their opinion.

There are free elections.

Right-wing extremism is a way of thinking.

Right-wing extremists are against our democracy. They believe that some people are worth less. For example, people with disabilities.

For example, we are drafting a law to support democracy. This law strengthens organisations and groups that campaign for democracy.

- We are providing two new women's refuges. There, women are protected from violence.
- We are introducing a law on culture. This law promotes cultural activities for everyone.

5. People of all ages should be able to live well in Berlin

That is our aim

Berlin is a city for everyone, whether young or old.

All children should receive a good education. They should be able to learn without stress.

And older people should be well looked after.

This is what we want to do

- We support families. For example:
We provide families with information about local nurseries. And we provide information about advice services relating to nurseries.

- We promote a good school education for everyone.
And we're working to increase the number of comprehensive schools.

In a community school, children can stay from the first year right through to the final year.

This means children can learn together for longer. As a result, they experience less stress.

- We ensure good training opportunities after school.
- We ensure that older people in Berlin can also live well.
- We'll ensure good healthcare provision. In every borough, we'll set up a health centre.

These centres will have a range of doctors and other health services.

6. Berlin should run smoothly

That is our aim

All Berliners should feel safe in Berlin.

They need protection from violence and discrimination.

Discrimination means:

A person is treated badly.

For example, because they have a different skin colour.

That is why we need a modern police force and modern courts.

They should understand people well and protect them.

But the people of Berlin also need protection from disasters.

For example, from a major power cut.

This is what we want to do

- We are improving social policy.
In doing so, we'll also improve security policy.
Because when everyone is doing well,
there are fewer crimes.
And Berlin will become a safe city.
- We will protect our democracy
and our rule of law.
And we are strengthening the courts.

Democracy means:

Everyone has a say and is free to express their opinion.

There are free elections.

The rule of law means:

There are rules and laws.

Everyone must abide by them.

Courts check whether laws have been followed.

Only the courts are allowed to decide on this.

- We are introducing a law to protect victims.
This is intended to provide better protection for victims of criminal offences.
- We are improving and modernising disaster preparedness.
For example, by increasing staffing levels.
And by clearly defining roles and responsibilities.

- We are improving the work carried out by public authorities. We are committed to a digital public service.

The digital public service offers video consultations, for example.
Citizens should be able to access these services barrier-free via their mobile phones.
And the services should be provided in plain language.
